

Location Pages – The Heavenly Crucifix

Seven locations. Pull the relevant page when agents arrive.

L1 – Prague Castle Chapel Museum

L1

DESCRIPTION	A small museum on the castle grounds, housed in a former chapel. Displays objects associated with the Defenestration of 1618 and the Thirty Years' War. Three rooms: the main hall (the defenestration window is here), a side gallery of religious artifacts, and a curatorial office. Quiet, underfunded, staffed by two elderly docents and a part-time curator. The crucifix was displayed in a glass case in the side gallery.
AVAILABILITY	Day shifts only (Morning, Day). Closed Evening and Night. Public access – agents can enter as tourists.
NPCS PRESENT	Curator Marek (civilian, not a full NPC – cooperative, knows the forgery is good but not who made it). After 03M1: Cardinal Voss visits, may overlap with agents.
INFORMATION	I1 (the forgery details), I2 (theft timeline), I3 (police report). I4 (shrine site mention) if agents ask specifically about the crucifix's origin.
ORGANIZATIONS	None present at case start. 05 after M1 – police presence.

+ Positive: Curator Marek is flattered by attention. A successful Manipulate (Diff 1) or genuine interest in the history earns full cooperation. The forgery can be examined – Tech or Lore (Diff 2) reveals the iron composition is wrong (modern alloy, not meteoric).

– Negative: If agents are aggressive or overtly "official," Marek becomes nervous and calls security. Police arrive next shift. If agents handle the forgery without gloves, they leave fingerprints that 05 traces (M1 triggers one day earlier).

L2

L2 – Countess Martinice's Retirement Home, Brno

DESCRIPTION	A state-run retirement facility in Brno, two hours east of Prague. Clean, institutional, smelling of boiled cabbage and disinfectant. Countess Alžběta Martinice, 82, occupies room 314. She is sharp, lonely, and has been waiting for someone to ask about the crucifix. Her room contains family letters, a hand-drawn family tree, and a diary entry from 1908 describing a visit to "the old place in the forest."
AVAILABILITY	Day and Evening shifts. Visiting hours end at 8 PM. Staff are indifferent – agents can pass as relatives.
NPCS PRESENT	NPC2 (Countess Martinice). After 03M1: Father Tomas (NPC5) may also be visiting – he arrived ahead of the agents.
INFORMATION	I4 (family tree – traces crucifix to shrine), I5 (the shrine location), I6 (the family letters – mentions "iron from the sky"). I7 (the 1908 diary) if agents build rapport.
ORGANIZATIONS	None.

+ Positive: The Countess is eager to help. She gives the agents her family letters and tree if treated with respect. If agents mention the Church, she becomes guarded – she knows the Church suppressed the shrine story and does not trust clergy. A Psychoanalyze (Diff 1) reveals she's been holding onto this story her whole life, waiting for someone who would believe her.

– Negative: If agents are dismissive, impatient, or threaten the Countess, she closes down permanently. Information can only be recovered via HQ fallback (losing 2 shifts). If Father Tomas is present, he will report the agents' visit to Cardinal Voss immediately.

L3 – Kunstsalon Heller, Vienna First District

L3

DESCRIPTION	A private antiques gallery in Vienna's wealthy First District. Discreet, appointment-only, specializing in "special provenance" objects – code for items with questionable ownership histories. The owner,Dieter Heller, is a middleman between thieves and collectors. The back room has a reinforced door, a safe, and soundproofing.
AVAILABILITY	Day and Evening shifts. Appointments required – agents must pose as buyers or use credentials. Night access requires infiltration.
NPCS PRESENT	Dieter Heller (civilian, not a full NPC – nervous, greedy, easily intimidated). Elena Varga (NPC4) may be present depending on O2 progression.
INFORMATION	I8 (the Vienna test – Heller witnessed it), I9 (Compact's involvement), I10 (buyer is "an American, very famous – you would know the name"). I11 (Munich bank vault location) if Heller is pressured or paid.
ORGANIZATIONS	O2 (Compact). After O2M2: O6 may begin surveillance.

- + Positive: Heller is terrified of the thief after watching him survive three point-blank gunshots in the back room. He will cooperate with anyone who seems capable of making "this nightmare end." A Manipulate or Command (Diff 1) gets full disclosure. Heller can arrange a meeting with Varga.

- Negative: If agents arrive aggressively, Heller triggers a silent alarm. Compact security arrives in 1 shift. If the meeting goes public (police called, gunfire), O5 advances by 2 squares.

L4 – Bayerische Handelsbank, Munich

L4

DESCRIPTION	A private bank in central Munich with anonymous safe deposit boxes. Box 718 was rented under a false name three weeks ago. The bank is all marble, brass, and discretion. The vault is underground, time-locked, and guarded.
AVAILABILITY	Day shifts only. The vault requires a key (Reiner has it) + bank manager cooperation, or a Tech/Sneak operation. Evening/Night requires black-bag infiltration (Tech Diff 3, Sneak Diff 2).
NPCS PRESENT	Bank Manager Vogel (civilian – officious, rule-bound). Klaus Reiner (NPC3) is NOT here – the crucifix is gone – but the box contains evidence of his stay: a discarded shirt with bloodstains (no wounds, but the shirt tore when he was shot), a receipt for a Vienna hotel, and a note with Varga's contact number.
INFORMATION	I11 (Varga's contact), I12 (Reiner's psychological state – the shirt and note suggest testing), I13 (Compact's fee structure – found in a discarded envelope). I14 (the Zurich meeting) from a travel itinerary in the box.
ORGANIZATIONS	None present. After 05M2: German police may be coordinating with Svoboda.

- + Positive: A smooth operation (bank hours, forged credentials, or a good Manipulate on Vogel) yields the box contents cleanly. The evidence allows agents to track Varga directly.

- Negative: A botched infiltration triggers the bank's security. Munich police respond. 05 advances by 1. The box is impounded as evidence – agents must request it through HQ, costing 2 shifts.

L5 – Zurich Private Aviation Terminal

L5

DESCRIPTION	A discreet FBO (fixed-base operator) serving private jets at Zurich Airport. The meeting between Varga and Warhol's intermediary occurred here, in a private lounge. The terminal has flight logs, a café, and staff who are paid to forget faces.
AVAILABILITY	All shifts. The terminal is always staffed. Public access to the café – agents can pose as travelers. Flight logs require credentials or a bribe.
NPCS PRESENT	Terminal manager (civilian – professional, discreet). NPC7 (Warhol's intermediary) if agents arrive at the right time.
INFORMATION	I14 (the Gulfstream tail number), I15 (flight plan – New York to Zurich, no return filed), I16 (the intermediary's name). I17 (Warhol's identity – the manager recognized him: "the soup can artist").
ORGANIZATIONS	None.

- + Positive: A generous bribe or successful Manipulate (Diff 2) on the terminal manager gets the flight logs and the intermediary's contact. The tail number traces to Warhol's holding company.

- Negative: If agents are overt or threatening, the manager reports them to Swiss aviation security. Access is revoked. HQ must pull the records, costing 2 shifts. 04 activates with a 1-square penalty.

L6 – Pagan Shrine Site, Bohemian Forest (Šumava)

DESCRIPTION	A remote clearing deep in the Šumava National Park, near the West German border. The shrine was demolished in the 11th century, but the foundation stones remain – a circle of weathered granite blocks, half-buried under moss and fallen leaves. The air is cold even in summer. Metal detectors register faint returns beneath the soil. The site has a palpable stillness – no birdsong, no animal tracks. The Corruption signature is low but constant: an ambient hum at the edge of perception.
AVAILABILITY	All shifts. Accessible only by hiking trail (2 shifts from Prague, 1 shift from the hunting lodge). No roads. No facilities. Agents must carry in equipment.
NPCS PRESENT	None at case start. After 06M1: a two-man KGB surveillance team is in the area (not at the shrine itself – observing from a distance).
INFORMATION	I18 (the meteorite fragments – still in the ground), I19 (the pagan origin confirmed – Slavic ritual objects among the stones), CT-1 (full confirmation of the pagan origin), CT-3 (additional iron fragments are harvestable).
ORGANIZATIONS	After 06M1: Soviet Intelligence is active in the area.

+ Positive: Excavating a fragment (Force + Tech combined, Diff 2, 2 hours) recovers a fist-sized piece of meteoric iron. A Lore roll (Diff 2) confirms its composition matches the crucifix. Agents can seal the site with a Containment Protocol ward (NPC5's talent if present, or the team's Keep agent).

– Negative: Digging without proper containment training triggers a Corruption Aura: +1 Corruption per scene at the site. If the KGB team is present, they photograph the agents and report to Moscow. 06 advances by 1. If agents extract iron without authorization, they are in Covenant protocol violation – Standing loss on case completion.

L7 – Jagdhütte Alpenblick, Bavarian Forest

DESCRIPTION	A remote hunting lodge 3 km from the West German–Czech border. Stone construction, timber roof, two floors. The main hall has a stone fireplace, mounted antlers, and heavy wooden furniture. The basement is a cold storage room converted to a meeting space. The lodge is owned by a Compact shell company. Isolated – nearest village is 12 km. Access by a single forest road.
AVAILABILITY	Accessible after 02M3 (Day 2). Before that, the location is unknown. After Day 2, agents can reach it: 1 shift from Munich, 1 shift from the shrine site. The exchange is scheduled for Day 1, Evening shift.
NPCS PRESENT	Day 2–1: Klaus Reiner (NPC3), Elena Varga (NPC4). Day 1 Evening: Cardinal Voss (NPC1), Hans (NPC6), Father Tomas (NPC5). Day 1 Evening: Andy Warhol (NPC8) arrives by car from the airstrip.
INFORMATION	I21 (Warhol's motivation), I22 (the full story – the shrine, the meteorite, the Church's suppression). All remaining unrecovered Information Cards become available here as final revelations.
ORGANIZATIONS	01, 02, 03, 04 converge here at Day 1. This is the climax.

+ Positive: Agents arrive before the exchange and control the environment. They can set up containment, negotiate with Varga (she will betray Reiner for the right price), or intercept Warhol before he enters. A coordinated plan involving all team members can achieve containment without violence.

– Negative: If agents arrive during or after the exchange, they walk into a three-way standoff. Reiner is invincible and manic. Varga's security is armed. The Church team is in position. Warhol is in the parking lot. Any gunfire triggers 05 (police) and potentially 06 (Soviet response). A Breach result here is catastrophic – multiple deaths, international incident, artifact lost.
